

STATEMENT

12 March 2026

Capital Radiology WA has confirmed that a vehicle accidentally drove into its Quinns Rocks clinic yesterday, 11 March 2026.

Julie Davey, General Manager of Capital Radiology WA, said that while the incident was shocking, she was relieved that no staff members or patients sustained serious injuries.

“Our immediate priority was the safety and wellbeing of our patients and staff,” Ms Davey said.

The building has now been assessed and confirmed safe, and the Quinns Rocks clinic will reopen to patients on Friday 13 March.

Ms Davey thanked patients and the community for their patience while the clinic was temporarily closed.

“We appreciate the understanding shown by our patients and referrers while we assessed the site and ensured it was safe to resume services. Our team looks forward to welcoming patients back tomorrow.”

While the clinic will reopen, repair works will continue in parts of the building following the damage caused by the incident.
